Statisticians have found out tha the average age of man has increased seven and one half years in the past century, notwithstanding the largely faith cure fads.

Col. Wm. M. Berger, of the Santa Fe Capital, is making a single-handed fight against the re-appointment of Governor Otero. The loquacious "colonel" is almost alone in his opposition and really thinks that he will win. He reasons that if he does that he will be public printer, coal oil inspector, secretary of the bureau of immigration, etc., etc.

If every town in New Mexico would have published in its local paper a page about the resources of that le ality and circulate anywhere in the east several hundred copies of the pa-per, the territory would be greatly benefited. The territorial Lureau of framigration could also help in the good work of circulating such papers where they would do the most good Such sketches should be carefully pre-pared and the local papers liberally paid for their work.
